A Recruit for Bishop Cummins

WHEELING, W. V., Jan 19.—A letter is made public from Rev T Hutton, Rector of St. Matthew's Episcopal Church in this city to Bishop Johns dissolving his connection with the ministry of said Church on account of the growing tendency of Episcopal bodies throughout the United States to ritualistic practices For the present the Rector does not join in Bishop Cummins' movement although he indorses it, but will wait for the action of the Church in Virginia and West Virginia There is some excitement among the members in regard to the movement which may be called the first reference in West Virginia to Cummins' reformation

Miscellaneous News.

NEW YORK Jan 19—The Committee of Safety called a meeting of the working men in the Fourth Ward yesterday and organized a ward association The few who responded were addressed by the leaders who were missing from the last Tompkins Square meeting promising another demonstration and another result, if they went as they had done of late and working men became crazed with hunger

The Pacific Mail Company state that the reason why their new vessel, City of Panama did not sail on Saturday was owing to her boilers not having been complete No engineers, sailors or coal-passers had been on board the vessel and could not therefore have prevented her departure by a strike It was not intended to take passengers on this her first trip as the management desired to make a trial trip of her machinery before sending her to the Pacific coast.

Fire in Chicago—Destruction of the Union Central Depot and Valuable Rolling Stock

CHICAGO Jan 20—Between 3 and 4 o'clock this morning a fire broke out in the Union Central depot buildings, occupied by the Michigan and Illinois Central and Chicago Burlington and Quincy railroads at the foot of Lake street and in a short time made such progress as to defy the Fire Department The building was entirely consumed The baggage in the C B & Q R R baggage room was nearly all lost, only a few pieces being saved and taken to the freight depot across the street Baggage in the other room south end was saved, the fire being put out before it reached that far Some of it was however removed to a place of safety Nothing was saved from any of the offices in connection with the depot, all being swallowed in the common destruction The tracks were filled with cars and most of them were saved but the men were unable to remove a number of fine passenger cars The Michigan Central Railroad lost three passenger coaches and two Pullman Palace Sleepers The C B & Q lost three coaches including one sleeper The Cincinnati Air Line lost one coach The total loss is estimated at between $300 000 and $400 000 insurance unknown The depot was a frame one put up after the great fire for temporary use

Final Settlement of the Texas Difficulty.

AUSTIN Jan 19—The offices of the Governor Secretary of State and Attorney General were surrendered to-day by the old officers and Governor Cooke and the newly elected officers took possession The other offices will be similarly surrendered as soon as the new incumbents are qualified

Death of the Siamese Twins

NEW YORK, Jan 20—A special from Richmond makes the announcement of the sudden death of the Siamese twins Saturday morning at their residence at Mount Airey Surrey county Chang was partially paralyzed last fall, since which time he has been very much debilitated and strongly addicted to drinking liquor as a means of alleviating his sufferings He had been quite feeble for several days so much so as to confine the brothers to bed Friday night Chang became worse, and expired suddenly about 4 o'clock on Saturday morning Eng became so terribly shocked that he roared wildly for awhile This attack was followed by what seemed to be a deadly stupor and in two hours from the death of Chang Eng breathed his last The wives and families of the twins are in deepest grief the children many of whom are deaf mutes expressing their sorrow in the most pitiful manner

Fire in Charleston, Va.

CINCINNATI Jan 19—A special to the Enquirer from Charleston, Va. reports a great fire in that city which commenced this morning in Lagan's block and destroyed in three hours all the houses on the Square between Capitol and Virginia streets except the Kanawha Valley bank and the Masonic and Courier buildings Loss $100 000 insurance about $3, 600

WASHINGTON CITY.

The Third Nominee for Chief-Justice—M. R. Waite, of Toledo, Ohio.

WASHINGTON, Jan 19—M R Waite of Toledo O has been nominated for Chief-Justice The nomination of Mr Waite appeared to be a surprise, but it was referred to the Judiciary Committee and will doubtless be confirmed to-morrow All parties appear to agree that it is a fit one. Mr Waite is 58 years of age is a son of the late Chief-Justice Waite of Connecticut and is a lawyer of 38 years standing He was one of counsel for the U S in the Geneva arbitration He has been a resident of Toledo Ohio since 1838 and is at present President of the Ohio Constitutional Convention, Just a year ago he was admitted to practice in the Supreme Court of the United States on motion of Caleb Cushing

Civil Service Once More.

The House Committee on Civil Service will report a bill reducing the number of Deputy Commissioners of Internal Revenue and providing that a vacancy in the office of First Deputy shall be filled by appointment of the existing deputy Senator Mitchell in the Role of a Cheap Transportationist.

Mitchell of Oregon introduced a bill to provide for the construction of the Portland Oregon Dalles and Salt Lake Railroad and a telegraph He said the measure was in the true interest of commerce and was approved by the people of the whole north Pacific coast without distinction of party that the people of that section were actually suffering for cheap transportation and the construction of this road would result in a great saving to Government in transportation of troops, mail etc Bill was referred to Committee on Railroads

The Chief Justice In Posse—Something Further Concerning His Antecedents.

WASHINGTON Jan 20—Waite's nomination thus far meets with no opposition except that the nominee is unknown Both Evarts and Cushing who served with him at Geneva, endorse him cordially He is personally well known to the present Associate Justices and was the friend and possessed the confidence of Chief Justice Chase. In politics he is a moderate Republican with strong convictions but slight partisan predilections.

The P. M. S. S. Co. Called to Account.

WASHINGTON Jan 20—The correspondence between the Postoffice Department and officers of the Pacific Mail Steamship Company relative to the failure of that company to begin the additional monthly service between San Francisco and Yokohama on October 1st last according to the terms of their contract was reported to the House yesterday for printing In answer to a letter of the Postmaster General demanding the reasons why the company did not put on new steamers November 1st Vice President Holman writes giving at length the causes of the delay He says that after contracts were made for two new ships it was discovered there was no machinery in the United States large enough to roll the iron beams The preparation of this machinery caused a delay of five months Afterwards builders in the iron works struck and other causes resulted in further delay Mr Holman describes the ships as the finest in the world and claims that the company has made every effort to put them on a line at the appointed time. He says that besides two new steamers of 5000 tons each the company has four new iron steamers of 3000 tons each which he hopes will be accepted for service until the large ones are ready

Congressional

WASHINGTON Jan 19—In the Senate a bill was introduced by Hitchcock of Nebraska granting to the American Fork Railroad Company the right of way through the public lands for the construction of a railroad and telegraph line from the town of American Fork, on the Utah Southern Railroad via American Fork Canyon and Sultana smelting works to Little Cottonwood Canyon Referred to the Committee on Railroads

Mitchell's bill provides that the proposed extension of the Portland Dalles and Salt Lake Railroad from the Columbia river to some point on the Pacific Railroad between Ogden and Kelton shall be open for the free transit of United States mails and Government supplies in consideration of which the United States Government is to guarantee the payment of the interest on the Company's bonds to the extent of $10,000 per mile The rates of freight and passenger traffic may be regulated by Congress and they are in no case to discriminate against any particular class or individual

HOW TO COOK A TURNIP.—I will tell the reader to cook two turnips in two different ways The first is to be peeled and sliced and left to soak in cold water for an hour or more The slices are to be boiled until quite tender and then are to be drained and nicely mashed with butter This is the most common method of cooking and it has the effect of washing out the sugar and other finer constituents of the root, and consequently the flavor is very much reduced The other root is to be washed quite clean but it is not to be peeled or cut or soaked Boil it whole in its jacket It will take twice as long to cook as the one that was cut When by trying it with a fork you find it quite tender take it up peel it press it moderately and mash it with butter You will be surprised at the difference Instead of being as, perhaps you will expect, strong rank or bitter, it will be deliciously full flavored, and will contain all the nourishment that was in it before it was cooked —Gardener's Magazine

Mr Kilgore reports a foot of snow in the Klamath basin and some of the poorer stock are dying

We have four inches of snow here

A HORRIBLE SCENE.—The Sydney Empire publishes a narrative of a shocking occurrence which recently took place at Newcastle New South Wales Among other demonstrations it says to celebrate the abolition of the tonnage dues, there was a bonfire on Shepherd's Hill The firemen eager to make the affair as successful as possible poured kerosene oil upon the burning heap but for some time this had simply the effect of creating a momentary blaze, which would subside as soon as the kerosene was consumed. Lewis Wood, a member of the brigade then mounted the heap, took the can in his hands and commenced pouring the oil on the fire He was warned by some one of the danger he ran but took no heed of what was said Presently an awful explosion took place A dull sound like the booming of distant cannon was heard and an immense volume of flame shot out amongst the crowd When the shock was over, the unfortunate man Wood was seen rolling down the burning heap in a sheet of flame The oil had apparently splashed over his clothes and as he emerged from the heap he was a mass of fire He struggled on to his feet and gained the open space his cries of despair being terrible The flames had got such complete hold of his oil saturated uniform that the work of putting them out was next to impossible and he sank to the ground exhausted Some of the firemen took off their coats and tried to beat the flames off, but they still clung to their unhappy victim and it was not till he had been wrapped up in several of the large coats of the firemen that the flames were subdued His heavy uniform had protected the trunk of his body and his helmet had also prevented the flames from reaching his head but his face presented an awful sight to look at He lingered in indescribable agony till Sunday afternoon when death put an end to his sufferings

SENATE.

WASHINGTON Jan 12—Patterson offered a resolution looking to the closing of the Missions to Sweden and Norway to first class. Adopted

Pratt introduced a bill ceding to the several States where they exist beds of unsurveyed lakes ponds etc

Ingalls introduced a bill to equalize the rates of freight on the different branches of the Union Pacific railroad

The morning hour expiring consideration of the salary bill was resumed the pending question being on the amendment by Gordon reducing ten per cent the salaries of all Government officers civil naval and military whose salaries are over $4 000 per annum Gordon withdrew his amendment and offered another in its place applying the ten per cent reduction to the $5 000 salaries in the army and navy and reducing the President's salary after March 1877, to $25 000 and appropriations for the Executive Mansion for the next four years by $20,000 The amendment was rejected

Conkling then offered a substitute for the House bill, which repeals the act of March 3 1873 except so far as it relates to the salaries of the President and Judges of the Supreme Court, and places the salaries back where they were before the passage of that act It provides further that no mileage shall be allowed for the first session of the Forty-third Congress and that all undrawn or returned back pay shall be conveyed into the Treasury

After some discussion and the rejection of a number of amendments by decisive votes the substitute was adopted and the bill passed—yeas 59 nays 8 The following named voting nay Brownlow Conover Flanagan Gordon Lewis Norwood Sprague and Tipton Cooper opposed paired with Cragin in favor of the bill Those not voting were Alcorn Ames Dennis Ferry of Connecticut Gilbert Hamilton of Texas, Johnston Jones Kelly Ransom Stewart and Thurman

HOUSE.

The motion made by Kelley before the holidays, to suspend the rules and adopt a resolution declaring it to be the sense of the House that taxes shall not be increased but the extraordinary means if any be required for the support of the Government shall be obtained by a temporary loan or loans bearing a low rate of interest in currency and redeemable in United States notes came up for action

Wood suggested a division of the resolution, and to have the House pass affirmatively on the first part and postpone decision on the second part

Kelley objected and called for a vote by yeas and nays Kelley also refused any modification of the resolution and the House refused to suspend the rules by a vote of [illegible] yeas to 83 nays—less than two thirds in the affirmative.

Hurlbut introduced a bill chartering a double-track railroad from the water on the Atlantic to the Missouri river, and to limit freights thereon Referred

Holman moved to suspend the rules and adopt a resolution declaring that in the judgment of the House, there is no necessity for an increase of taxation, or an increase of the public debt by a further loan if there shall be economy in public expenditures to the lowest point consistent with the proper administration of public affairs The rules were suspended and the resolution adopted Yeas, 221 nays 3

Sypher offered a resolution reciting that by the abolition of the duty on sugar, the revenues have been reduced $12 000,000 while no reduction has been made in the cost to consumers and directing the Committee of ways and means to inquire into the expediency of restoring the duty Referred

Kasson introduced a bill to transfer the management of Indian Affairs to the War Department Referred

Cox offered a resolution directing the Committee of Ways and Means to inquire whether the revenue could not be increased by reducing the tariff and if so, to report a bill in accordance with that conclusion Referred

The House went into Committee of the Whole on the naval appropriation bill and after a general discussion of the bill without action adjourned

SENATE.

WASHINGTON Jan 13—The Chaplain of the Senate in the opening prayer returned thanks to Providence for the repeal of the salary bill

The House resolution to fill vacancies in the Board of Regents of the Smithsonian Institute was concurred in and the Chair appointed Sargent a member of the Board on the part of the Senate

The Senate then proceeded to the consideration of the resolution reported by the Finance Committee declaring it to be the duty of Congress to adopt definite measures to redeem the pledge in the act of 1869 for an early practical redemption of United States notes in gold coin

Ferry of Michigan sharing in the public anxiety that the Senate should get on with the question of finance immediately withdrew the substitute formerly presented by him and substituted the following

"That the Committee on Finance be directed to report to the Senate at as early a day as practicable such measures as will restore commercial confidence and give stability and elasticity to the circulating medium through a moderate increase of the currency"

Frelinghuysen argued against inflation, and for a return to specie payment declaring that the time had come when an earnest effort should be made to keep the solemn pledge of the nation that if the system of paper expansion was insisted on the day of the Government's bankruptcy would be sure to come In conclusion he presented a bill to secure the resumption of specie payments without contracting the currency and it was referred to the Committee on Finance It authorizes the Secretary of the Treasury to issue $225 000 000 in six per cent ten forty bonds to be disposed of from time to time for the purpose of purchasing $200,000,000 in gold coin with which to redeem the legal tenders of the United States It instructs the Secretary of the Treasury as soon as he shall deem it expedient with such amount of gold as for the time being he may have procured, to commence and continue the redemption of legal tenders When redeemed they are not to be reissued except in exchange for gold certificates at par and when so reissued they shall be redeemable in gold coin But the total amount of legal tenders outstanding and redeemable shall at no time exceed $[illegible] The bill further provides that after commencing said redemption the Government shall be unable to redeem a part of said legal tenders in gold the Secretary may redeem them by exchanging said bonds at par for them

Gordon introduced a resolution directing the Committee on Civil Service and Retrenchment to inquire as to the expediency of reporting a bill to reduce as far as possible the compensation of all officers of the Army and Navy whose salary exceeds $5 000 per annum and asked that it be laid on the table So ordered

The House resolution of respect to the memory of James Brooks and W D Foster was read and after eulogistic remarks by Fenton of New York and Ferry of Michigan and the adoption of appropriate resolutions the Senate adjourned

HOUSE.

The House resumed the consideration of the bill to establish a Bureau of Education and provide a fund for free education and finally postponed further consideration until March

The House then went into Committee of the Whole on the Naval Appropriation bill

Randall offered the following amendment which provoked considerable discussion

Any person holding any office or appointment under authority of the United States who shall contract for, or authorize or consent to any expenditure within any fiscal year over or beyond the appropriation for such year for the purpose for which such appropriations may have been specially made or who shall at any time contract for authorize or consent to any expenditure over and above the appropriation made for such purposes shall be deemed guilty of misdemeanor and on conviction thereof shall be fined not less than $1 000 and not more than $10 000

The discussion turned largely on the alleged extravagance of the Supervising Architect of the Treasury in the erection of public buildings all over the country Beck asserting that although the cost of the New York postoffice was limited to $3 000 000 and that of the Boston postoffice to $1 500 000 the former had already cost nearly 6 000 000 and the latter nearly $4 000 000 The amendment was allowed to go over for future action.

Without making much progress on the bill the Committee rose

The House then took up the Senate substitute for the Salary Bill. Hurlbut who introduced the bill for which this is a substitute declared his willingness to accept the substitute as a satisfactory solution of the vexed question He yielded the floor however to Hale Chairman of the select committee on the subject who moved concurrence in the substitute and called for the previous question

Butler and Dawes wanted to offer amendments and Cox said that himself and others wanted a more perfect bill but Hale stood firm declaring that he would not risk the subject being opened again and that he believed it was as good a bill as the House would get

The previous question was seconded—125 to 75—and the substitute adopted—yeas 226 nays 25 The bill now goes to the President for approval

The negative votes were given by Albert Averill Berry Clymer, Cox, Crossland, Hayes Havnes Kelley Kendall Lamison Morey Negley Platt Randall Shanks Sloss Standeford Storm Stowell Todd Waddell White Whiteley and Williams of Indiana

Garfield, from the Committee on Rules reported a rule proposed originally by Holman requiring that all bills making appropriations of money or property, or requiring such appropriations to be made or authorizing payment out of appropriations already made shall be first considered in Committee of the Whole

The Speaker in the course of the discussion, explained that the proposed rule was a necessary safeguard, the present rule on the subject not having apparently sufficient scope and being capable of wrong construction The rule was adopted and the House adjourned

THE DECADENCE OF CHARLESTON.—Dear dead Charleston Eight years have passed since the war and the city lies in ashes ruins and desolation. A United States officer calling upon us says "Oh the place has improved wonderfully this year I really think they have spent as much as ten dollars for paint" He also tells us that not long since the officers stationed at the garrison gave a ball and invited Charleston, appealing in the innocence of their hearts that place was established Charleston hesitated but it was a long time since Charleston held even a ball So it compromised, attended and drew such a line of demarcation that in half an hour all the officers and their families were on one side of the line while Charleston danced on the other The aristocratic quarter of the city is along the Battery facing the harbor Here are stately old residences but they are shut up or appear so out of repair and in some instances bear the marks of our bombshells —Cor. Cleveland Herald

TEXAS POLITICS

The political atmosphere of Texas seemed [illegible] likely to become as foul as [illegible] from the [illegible] correspondence between Governor Davis and President Grant we infer that the politicians who have been running that commonwealth counted upon the administration to help them [illegible] the [illegible] wishes of the people, if that should be necessary to enable them to retain the control of public affairs there. They appear to have relied upon the case of Louisiana as a precedent for invoking the exercise of Federal power when the people pronounced against their continuance in office.

The final result of the Louisiana embroglio was the fixing and maintaining in office of a set of men whom the people of the State had not chosen but had emphatically repudiated, as it is presumed [illegible] have the hardihood to deny. For a long time, it is true, the plainly indisputable charges of fraud on both sides so far obscured the facts in the case that there might have been reasonable doubts entertained as to what party had received a majority of the bona fide votes of the people, and though the investigations since made have all tended to establish the claims of the anti-Kellogg party, the decision of the court in the case made before it in an early step of the difficulty, still stands unrevised, and thus the record is made up in favor of the fraud. We mean the Kellogg Pinchback fraud, for the other side lost their cause by reason of the frauds they attempted to perpetrate.

But this case is not parallel with, nor a precedent for that of Texas. The President never did assume to pass upon the question of who was right and who wrong in the Louisiana case. The matter was submitted to the courts and through the want of energy and ability on the part of the Warmothites, or possibly through the corruption of a partisan bench, the greater rascals were the more successful, and a fraudulent Government was forced upon the State, and then the Executive was asked to annul the decision of the Judicial Department of the Federal Government and overthrow the fraudulent concern with force and arms. This was the exact state of the case, howsoever it may be glossed over. The request was refused by the President in accordance with the advice of the Attorney General. It is doubtless true that the President was not sorry when the affair took such a shape as to allow him to support the Kellogg party upon a technical question of law since there is no way to do so upon the broad principles of justice. But it matters not how he felt about it. So long as his decision and conduct were right under the peculiar circumstances, no one could justly find fault with him.

But the Texas case is different. Here there is no judicial decision behind which the defeated party may entrench themselves. The facts are plain, and the purposes of the repudiated politicians are patent. The people of Texas have voted the opposition party into power by an overwhelming majority, and the people must now be put down at the point of the bayonet, or the men heretofore bearing rule will be relegated to private life and to the necessity of getting their livings by the ordinary industries—unless they have fobbed enough in the way of perquisites of office to retire upon.

And upon what grounds is this interference asked? Simply because the defeated party are favorable to the Administration, while the people are not? No, no, not so bad as that. But the Constitution of the State says the polls shall be kept open four days, and they were in fact not kept open so long. Here is undoubtedly a technical flaw in the proceedings. It might be more than a technical flaw, that is, there might be a case wherein it would be not merely technical, for there might be such a thing as the result of the last day's votes changing the footings at the ultimate count. But nobody pretends that such is, or could possibly be, the truth in this case. The election was quiet and orderly, and everybody voted who chose to do so. The only wrong complained of is that the votes were on the wrong side. It was to be a French election, in which the people were required simply to ratify the doings of the powers that were, but the people did not see it in just that light, and so the politicians make a journey to Washington with their grievance.

But the President perceives the distinction between this case and that of Louisiana, in one respect, if not two. He sees that this is a plain and palpable demand for the Federal Government to use its power for the prevention of any free election in those States where the people do not indorse the administration. He may possibly discern also, a state of public sentiment throughout the country that has a warning in it. At all events he does the right thing by refusing to do the wrong one. He declines the part which the Texas politicians assign to him, and he even tells the disappointed and weeping Davis that the thing for him and his crowd to do is to submit to the laws of his country and the will of the people of his State as other people are expected to do. If this does not settle the patriotic Governor, it is to be hoped the Louisiana case will be made a precedent in a way differing a little from that in which it was invoked, and that the administration will be as ready to exercise its power to sustain the authority of the [illegible] government of Texas as it was to [illegible] for [illegible] in Louisiana [illegible] that was de facto only by scratch and de jure in no possible sense.

THE CHIEF JUSTICE

The President has nominated M[illegible] Waite of Toledo, Ohio, to be Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, and the indications are that the nomination will be confirmed. It is said that he is a gentleman of excellent legal attainments, and that he was of counsel for the United States before the Geneva Tribunal. Beyond this we know nothing, but we trust the President has at last found a gentleman whom the Senate will confirm. Certainly, the dispatches give him the best political character attainable. There can be no possible objection to an honest able man, in the prime of life, who is a moderate Republican of strong convictions but slight partisan predilections.

CORRUPTION AND REFORMS

If ever a journal was [illegible] political affiliations that journal is the Portland [illegible]. Its pet exchanges are the New York H[illegible] and the St Louis Glob[illegible]. A month ago [illegible] after [illegible] on the [illegible] from the H[illegible].

[illegible]

Yet how [illegible] after the [illegible] the country [illegible] the [illegible] in the strongest terms against the heedless and costly war of annexation. The [illegible] was unfortunate. But again note how the H[illegible] excoriated its admirer, in an article on the political situation in Oregon:

> Senator Hipple Mitchell [illegible] upon an endorsement from the Republican Convention. [illegible] The issue before the Republicans of Oregon was not so much the choice of a member of Congress as it was the endorsement of Mitchell's character. The Democratic candidate (Nesmith) was elected by a large majority and the Republican candidate and platform, including the whitewashing resolution concerning Mitchell, were repudiated.

So much for the H[illegible]—whose "head is always level!"

The St Louis Globe is another pet of the Bulletin. This paper has just been detected in stealing Associated Press dispatches from the Press of St Louis, and bribing [illegible] Losey, an operator in the Western Union office at St Louis, to commit the dishonorable act of furnishing the reports. This scandalous thieving drew upon the Globe from all parts of the country the indignant denunciations of honest journalists. We have before us some forty-eight extracts from leading papers, all of which speak in high terms of Losey's character previous to this disreputable transaction, and all of which condemn in unmeasured terms the outrageous and unprofessional conduct of the Globe which wrecked and ruined a fair reputation and made decent journalists blush for shame. This is the paper which the Bulletin most affects, which it quotes oftener than any other as authority—the St Louis Globe—a thief.

Verily the Bulletin and the St Louis Globe are par nobile fratrum. The Globe is a thief and the Bulletin is a defender of seduction, larceny, bigamy, adultery, bribing, repeating, false swearing, a slanderer and backbiter, a vilifier of upright judges and incorruptible public prosecutors, a supporter of extortioners and monopolies which eat up the substance of the land, oppress the laborer and the farmer, and corrupt our Legislatures and in too many instances our judiciary.

Our attention has been called to this matter by noticing, in the editorial column of the Bulletin of Monday, a leading article in which that paper accuses Governor Booth, of California, of buying his election to the United States Senate, and seeks to bring contempt upon the cause of political reform by quoting a paragraph from the San Francisco Spirit of the Times, in which it is directly charged that the agents of Governor Booth endeavored to purchase an Assemblyman with two thousand dollars in gold notes.

The Bulletin probably knows that the Spirit of the Times is a railroad sheet, that its editor, Marcus D. Boruck, attempted by most disgraceful tricks to throw the organization of the Assembly into the hands of the railroad ring, and that the Assembly refused to re-elect him Chief Clerk chiefly for that reason. To sum up, it is sufficient to know that the Spirit of the Times has constantly supported the notorious Gorham for Governor and Senator. So in this scandal the presumption is against the railroad organ. But it may be that Boruck has some evidence to support his charges. If he has he will be called on to produce it.

Several days since we noticed the fact that one A D Bell, correspondent of the S F Post, had been expelled from the Senate for saying in a letter that the joint Senator from San Francisco and San Mateo had been influenced by a specific sum to cast his vote for Booth. The Bulletin alludes to this in the following terms:

> For its (the Senate's) hasty action in the matter the press criticised that body with great severity. His expulsion raised such a storm that an investigation could [no] longer be refused.

There are several falsehoods in this quotation. In the first place the resolution of expulsion was passed by a unanimous vote. Even the railroadized Republican and Democratic Senators voted for it. And the action of the Senate was sustained by the S F Bulletin, Call, Chronicle and Examiner, the Sacramento Union and Bee, the Stockton [illegible], Marysville Appeal and the Oakland News and Transcript. Moreover the action of the Senate had nothing to do with the appointment of the Committee of Investigation. Bell was expelled by the Senate, while the Committee was appointed by the Assembly.

We have consumed much space in answering the Bulletin's misrepresentations in detail. Our justification is that it makes these charges against Booth the excuse for a long tirade against political reform and reformers in general. Booth was elected by the people and we believe he is an honest man. Of course the Bulletin is privileged to prove that all honest men are thieves, and that in order to be successful in politics men must be [illegible] corruptly [illegible]

[illegible]

PROSTRATE ALABAMA

In a letter to the New York Tribune [illegible] King, author of the interesting series of papers on "The Great South" now appearing in Scribner's Monthly, writes:

It seems to me that the time is ripe for investment in that section of Alabama [illegible]

[illegible] If he [illegible] the main [illegible] than the [illegible]. He can help it with the [illegible] the United States something [illegible] while the private individual of fortune in the North and the average Congressman seem totally indifferent. The Southern people are [illegible] by the harshness of their fate. After the war they asked for bread and [illegible] gave them a stone. By this time they need something more nourishing. Under present circumstances there the average agriculturalist has no hope of accumulating any money and consequently is always discouraged. One of the most prominent of Alabama's citizens—a gentleman who was disfranchised even when he spoke to me—told me last winter that the people of that State needed only the return of a little prosperity to make them perfectly contented; that they were ready to abide by the results of the war and [illegible] to owe allegiance to the old flag, but that at that time they had no hope and no confidence. The only trace of bitterness in all his remarks was that he believed the people of the North intended vindictively to pursue the Southerners into their graves.

DR KENEALY AND THE JUDGES

Dr Kenealy's speech—the greatest outrage on all the decencies of judicial procedure known in our time—is [illegible] on. He is like the man who found his prison cell every day becoming smaller and smaller. The issues of the case are gradually being closed upon him, and in despair he lashes wildly against the limits of inexorable fact within which he is confined. If there had been any doubt before as to the character of the claimant, the [illegible] episode must have removed it. [illegible] has been ordered into custody by the Judge on a charge of perjury, having been shown to be a convict lately released from Chatham prison, and it may be assumed that his evidence, so far as it tells in favor of the claimant, has been dismissed from the case. But where it tells against him it remains. For not only did [illegible] pretend to recognize the claimant as the Roger who had been saved from the Bella when he was [illegible] of the [illegible], but the claimant was stated to have recognized [illegible]. So the two must stand or fall together. If [illegible] story is all a lie the claimant must have known it. [illegible] evidence as to the interview with the claimant was very distinct and positive on this point. He said the latter recognized him at once, and asked "How do you do, [illegible]?" This was evidence produced with the claimant's sanction in his own behalf, and the interview took place in the presence of one of his agents. When [illegible] first appeared in court he used to sit beside the claimant and they chatted together in a friendly manner. In private also they seem to have been on familiar terms, but since [illegible] later history has been exposed the claimant has cut him dead. But it is too late. As to Dr Kenealy's attack on the Bench, and on the counsel of the other side, they are altogether indecent and inexcusable. The administration of justice would be brought to a standstill if similar practices were adopted by other counsel. He rambles on from one point to another, darts off with all sorts of irrelevant digressions, accuses the Judges of being insolent and unfair if they venture to interpose a remark, and flings about wild charges of corruption, forgery and perjury in the most reckless manner. The jury have felt bound more than once to express their sympathy with the Bench and their own indignation at the scandalous waste of time. It is suggested that Dr Kenealy, being now hopeless of a verdict, is anxious to provoke the court into putting him to silence, so that it may be said that his case was not properly heard out to the end; but I should think the Doctor's temperament and character supply a sufficient explanation. His temper is obviously beyond his control, and he has worked himself up into a state of mind in which he hardly knows what he is saying. Some years ago he was imprisoned for having, in a fit of ungovernable temper, beaten one of his children within an inch of its life. The maintenance of professional honor and discipline at the bar is left to the benchers of the Inns of Court, and Dr Kenealy's benchers will probably have something to say to him when the trial is over.—London Cor. (Dec 13th) N Y Times.

BUCKWHEAT PANCAKES.—The buckwheat pancake is an article largely used, but as commonly prepared it is not fit to serve up at any table. It is heavy and distressing to the stomach. Though the batter may be light, yet when it gets on the griddle it is apt to fall and become the heavy, indigestible thing we find it. Not unfrequently it is sour. Now all this can be obviated, and a light palatable cake made with a little care by the addition of graham flour mixed with the buckwheat, the proportion of graham flour being a little over a quarter. Mix the flour [illegible] keep on hand ready for baking. When wanted [illegible] bring to batter with buttermilk. Other [illegible] milk will do, but it must be milk from the churn and it wants to be quite sour. Raise with [illegible] and bake at once. The first baking will in general not be satisfactory; it will lack lightness. Still it will be better than the usual pancake. Now leave what batter remains in a warm room. This will sour somewhat, and the cake the next morning will be improved. Another twenty-four hours' exposure to the warmth of seventy to eighty degrees and there is still further improvement. After this there will be little difficulty [illegible]

CITY.

STREET BARRICADE.—Some two months since the water in the cistern at the intersection of Stark and First streets burst through the side of the cistern into the trench which was opened for the purpose of laying the sewer. This was promptly remedied by supporting the tunnel with timbers and refilling with earth by puddling, leaving the ground around the sewer as solid as before it was disturbed. Since then the side of the cistern under the street railroad track has been gradually giving way and the track and a small portion of the adjacent street settling. On Saturday the Superintendent of Streets had such portion of the street as was accessible through the cistern braced up, supporting the railroad track and a portion of the street. The caving of the side of the cistern still continued however, and last night it became necessary in order to avoid accident which might be attended with serious consequences to barricade that portion of the street which appeared dangerous. The Council meets to-night and will probably give the matter the necessary attention.

ASSAULT AND BATTERY.—Miss Hodgdon one of the teachers in the Public schools, was arrested last evening on a charge of assault and battery. The charge was preferred by Mr R. R. Thompson whose little son Frank had been chastised by Miss Hodgdon. The boy it seems, had been instructed to bring up a load of wood which he did not feel inclined to do when the lady proceeded to administer a castigation. It is claimed that the punishment administered was entirely too severe for the offense and that a stout stick was employed which inflicted bodily harm. The lady was released on her own cognizance to appear at the Police Court this morning when the unpleasant and mortifying occurrence will be examined into.

SLEDS FOR STICKEEN.—More than a dozen sleds will be shipped this afternoon on the California. Their destination is Fort Wrangle. These sleds are constructed of wood in the most compact manner combining both strength and lightness. They are for a number of persons who contemplate visiting the Stickeen mines early next spring. The sleds will be shipped to Fort Wrangle and from thence will be conveyed overland to the mines. Blankets provisions and mining tools will be placed on the sleds, which will be drawn by hand over the snow. Each sled can sustain with ease about 500 pounds.

LARGE CYLINDER.—A few days since a very large cylinder for a steam engine was cast at the Willamette Iron Works. For its dimensions this will be, when finished, one of the most powerful engines which has ever been put up in the State. The engine is 18 inches in diameter and 30 inch stroke, and weighs 2,500 pounds. Its working capacity will be 150 horse power. It is to be employed in driving the machinery of a large sawmill at Port Madison Washington Territory, whither it will be shipped in a week or more.

EAST OF THE MOUNTAINS.—Yesterday the O. S. N. Co's line was up and in operating condition to Walla Walla. We learn that the weather at the various points through which the lines pass is quite cold. The average temperature is 23°. At Walla Walla the snow fell on Monday to a depth of three inches, but did not remain on the ground but a few hours. Snow had fallen all over the whole country but melted as it fell. The Columbia rose four inches at Wallula on Monday night, but fell again yesterday morning.

ADJUDGED INSANE.—Mrs Elizabeth Harlow was examined yesterday before Judge Hamilton on a charge of insanity, and papers issued committing her to the Asylum. This unfortunate lady is aged 47 years, and the mother of seven children. She is a native of Union county Illinois. The cause of her insanity is puerperal mania. She was sent to the Asylum in 1867 and was discharged after being there about three years and a half. The unfortunate subject was removed to the Asylum yesterday afternoon.

ROUGH BELOW.—Persons who arrived from Astoria last evening inform us that the weather in that vicinity is still very rough and stormy. The Bar is reported to be exceedingly vexed by winds so that none of the sailing vessels have gone to sea for some days. When the Astoria boat left yesterday morning nothing was seen of the steamer Oriflamme now due here. Snow has fallen to a depth of about ten inches at various points along the river, and was still descending yesterday.

JUDGE DEADY'S LECTURE.—The sixth lecture of the course will be delivered at the Congregational Church this evening by Hon. M. P. Deady. His subject as before announced, will be "Politics and the Pulpit." The name of this distinguished person is a guarantee that the lecture will be rich in thought, clear and perspicuous in style, thorough in analysis and redolent of the good things of learning. In short, a rare treat for lovers of literature.

TROOPS DISTRIBUTED.—We learn that as soon as the upper Columbia is open for navigation, the troops now lying at Vancouver will be distributed as follows: L, M and F Troops will go to Walla Walla; L Troop will proceed to Lapwai; H Troop to Klamath and K Troop to Camp Harney. Beside the 21st Infantry now in quarters at Fort Vancouver there is a detachment of recruits for the 1st Cavalry.

STEAMER ALBANY.—This steamer is still lying in the basin at Oregon City undergoing repairs. The Albany is an old boat, but her machinery is still in excellent condition for service. Constant use and exposure has caused portions of her hull to decay and that repairs were necessary. She will probably be in a condition to report for service by the last of the present week.

REPORTED CRUELTIES TO A SAILOR.

Scarcely a vessel arrives at this port but what reports are circulated concerning the inhuman treatment of sailors by the officers. Portland has become a shipping port of considerable importance but still there has been no case of shocking barbarity developed yet, although there have been numerous instances where unnecessary violence and brutal [illegible] was exercised by the [illegible] complaint of such cruelties have been frequently made in the United States Courts and the penalty of practicing cruelties on sailors punished. Almost [illegible] with the arrival of the English bark Chanaral at this port came the report that while this vessel was on a voyage from London to Callao a sailor was most cruelly and brutally maltreated by the Captain and mate and that the poor fellow died from the injuries and the cruel and inhuman treatment he received. These reports have been for several days extensively circulated and created much comment on the streets. Like every other question it has two sides as given by the sailors and the [illegible] by the Captain and mate. So that no injustice may be done we give the statements of both parties. The following is the statement furnished and subscribed to by three of the Chanaral's crew.

The bark Chanaral, of Liverpool, John Harman, Master left London for Callao on the 21st of May 1873 and brought that night at Gravesend being two hands short and brought two men on board there one an elderly man by the name of Thomas Taylor. Proceeded on our voyage the following day, coming down Channel it was found out he was no seaman but a runaway from a detachment of Royal Artillery stationed at Woolwich. About a week after we left he fell sick and laid up. So the Captain and mate came forward and brought him aft and put him in irons and blackened both his eyes and locked him in the paint locker on the quarterdeck, brought him out next day and set him to work about the decks and put him in irons every night and made him ball off spun yarn and tar decks all day. He was not able to stand on his legs they being swollen to twice their natural size.

On the first of July he was put in the long boat but previous to that he told the master that he murdered his wife and children before leaving London. Then he was put in irons and given one biscuit and a pannikin of water daily for fourteen days. By that time his bed was rotted to pieces under him and all his clothes wet with the heavy rain on the quarter—the top of the longboat being like a sieve.

On the 14th of July he got two biscuits daily on or about the 29th he got one pound daily and one quart of water.

Shortly after that he was taken out of the longboat and put down in the after tween decks and there he laid till he died which occurred on the 2d of September 1873. Sixty-three days he was kept on bread and water and the irons only twice off him and only washed and changed his clothes and kept in the boat till the vessel was about 50° south latitude and then all the time round the Horn did not get as much as a drop of warm tea or coffee nor any nourishing food of any description. And the chief cause of his death was the maltreatment he received at the hands of the master and chief mate he being sick and no one looking after him, only the steward heaving the bread and water to him once a day, and no one on board could see him or tell whether he was dying or not till he was found dead by the cook.

And we the undersigned, are ready to give our oath to the truth of the preceding statement before a consul or magistrate at home or abroad.

ALEXANDER ANDREW,
WILLIAM JOHNSTON
CHARLES WESSTRIME

Before he was put on bread and water the mate called him out of the long boat twice to lend a hand to wash deck. The man not being able to stand on his legs was rather long in getting out so the mate kicked him in the posterior of his body and knocked him down on deck, jumped on his breast with one foot, to that extent that the dung came out in his trowsers and he kicked him in the face at the same time. The cook also saw the mate do this, and I can swear to the truth of the above.

WILLIAM JOHNSTON

THE OTHER SIDE

Yesterday we called on the first mate and Capt Harris, to learn what they had to say in relation to the affair. The following is substantially their version of the story. The evening before the Chanaral sailed from London this man Taylor came on board and signified his desire to join the ship. As the vessel was to proceed on her voyage the following day and the crew lacked one man the captain accepted him. Very soon after the vessel was under way it was ascertained that Taylor was no sailor at all. However, the officers managed to get along with his awkwardness as best they could treating him as they allege with kindness all the time. They learned in addition, that he was a deserter from the British army, and that he was reckless irresponsible and could not be relied upon. He was fractious turbulent and could not be controlled by his superior officers. He had not been to sea many days before he commenced to manifest strong symptoms of insanity. At length he became so violent that stringent measures had to be adopted to bring him into subjection. One day he confessed to the first mate that he was a murderer, and said he intended to surrender himself to the authorities. He declared he had murdered his wife some time before joining the ship and then made his escape. From that time on, Taylor became a raving maniac. On one occasion he got hold of a large knife and went up and down the deck brandishing the weapon and threatening to kill any person who should dare approach him. With much difficulty the maniac was captured and as a matter of safety placed in irons. At that time the vessel was nearing the equatorial latitudes and Taylor was kept in the long boat for some days as the weather was too oppressively hot to allow any person to sleep below. During all this time Taylor was carefully attended to, and all his wants supplied. He was never abused or maltreated from the time he joined the vessel until his death although at times he was so violent that neither officers nor crew dare approach him. While the vessel was off Cape Horn Taylor died and his body was committed to the sea. On arriving at Callao the British Consul of that place was informed of the occurrence. That officer instituted an investigation of the matter and no responsibility or censure was found to attach to the Captain or mates so they were discharged by the Consul. After discharging cargo at Callao the Chanaral proceeded to San Francisco and from thence to this port. Both Captain and mates claim that they are entirely innocent of the crime with which they are accused. We learn that a complaint has been lodged against the officers but no arrest have yet been made, so far as we are informed.

PROF CONDON'S LECTURE.

SURFACE FACTS IN GEOLOGY

There was no falling off in the attendance at Masonic Hall last evening to hear Prof Condon in his seventh lecture of the series being delivered by him on the Geology of Oregon. His subject as previously announced was Surface Facts of Oregon Geology which was treated in the Professor's usual instructive style.

The surface facts [illegible] everyday [illegible] have given great pleasure [illegible] or at least [illegible] things of [illegible] less intrinsic value because we have to labor to obtain them [illegible] nothing. Hence the [illegible] but few scientists have treated of them extensively.

SURFACE SOIL

As the first of [illegible] facts [illegible] attention [illegible] surface soil not the alluvial deposit in the valleys or the decomposed vegetable matter on the hills but the finely pulverized soil which overspreads the vegetable land in the eastern portion of the State. This soil is quite evenly deposited all over that section and it is the very life of the bunch grass which grows so abundantly there. If Eastern Oregon had summer showers it would be a very rich country as all parts of it is covered with this soil even to the tops of all the hills which are not over 1000 feet high. This distribution of surface soil is a beneficent provision as without it that great country left as the volcanoes left it would contain no fields of grain or gardens or orchards with [illegible] fruit in any place all over the alluvial deposit of the valleys.

Now what were the agencies which thus distributed this soil? Water did not place it there or it would have been left in clearly defined strata nor would it have been spread on so evenly for water would have carried the soil to the bottom of the hills instead of spreading it all over the tops. Nor was this soil the result of frosts alone. Though that agency may have had some part in the work it did not grind up all this matter and carry it down twelve feet and mix it up. Glaciers may have been instrumental in the work but if so it must have extended over the entire surface of the country as far north as the 50° of north latitude. Along the shores of Puget Sound on the right hand as you sail down the Sound evidences of glacial action are very clearly observed. Vast rocks have been carried along over the surface of the country toward the coast from the Cascade mountains. These mountains were perhaps the center of large glaciers which were forced out both to the east and the west. Near Mt Adams the rocks bear unmistakable traces of the passage of glaciers being scratched and marked in many places.

The forms which the surface soil takes in its even distribution and the mounds are facts worthy of notice. Two or six miles from the Dalles on the northern slope of the hills these mounds are so arranged that at first glance the impression is made on the mind that an intelligent designer placed them in the order in which they stand but on closer inspection it is seen that the arrangement is the work of natural causes. The early idea concerning them accounted for them by the supposition that the trees once growing there protected the soil around their roots while the surrounding portions were washed away. That they were cut or carved out rather than thrown up is indicated by the fact that the soil is richer at the top than at the base. There is no sign of the agency of water, except as rain in producing them. Further on near Deschutes river are mounds very similar but upon basaltic foundations and the spaces between them filled with rocks. In both places the soil which has not been cut away is like that in the mounds.

Similar formations are seen in Mound Prairie W. T. Then between Tenino and Olympia are extensive regions covered with these mounds similar to those near the Dalles and Deschutes but the bases are rolled boulders. In Governor Stevens' railroad report among other causes given as the agencies producing these singular formations were the following: 1st That they were thrown up by fishes to cover their spawn. 2d That when the water overflowed all that country, they were formed by eddies which deposited them. 3d That at the time last named some kind of submarine vegetable growth held the soil while that surrounding was washed away. One traveler thought they were the result of glacial action but the speaker had found no evidence of such a cause but rather that they had been formed by the cutting away of the surrounding soil by the elements. As evidence of this the base and summit are alike in all those in the same region. Such mounds cannot be made by artificial means for the soil would find its way toward the bottom and the boulders would be left bare. The upper layer of soil is cut away until a more resisting one is reached and the hight of the mound is determined by the depth of the soil. The rain is mainly the agency acting in carrying out these mounds and weather worn would be the most natural answer as to what made them.

VOLCANIC BUTTES

A second series of surface facts are the volcanic buttes of the Wallamet Valley. The one five miles southeast of Albany known as Washington Butte rests on the miocene tertiary. Around its base the shells crop out in great profusion. Peterson's Butte, 15 miles further on is very symmetrical and in shape resembles Mount Hood. The mass of this butte is trachyte overlaid with columnar basalt. Ward's and other buttes in the same region are similar in their component parts. Spencer's Butte near Eugene City, was a beautiful object and one of the most noted in the valley. All these elevations had once been islands in the Wallamet Sound which once covered this country.

STREAM EROSIONS

The third branch of facts in connection with the surface facts of Geology in this country was one of great interest. The action of water on stone was one of the most powerful agencies in working some of the changes which are constantly going on. Streams are constantly cutting away the rocks over which they flow. The first water course began with the first land appearing and increased as the land was elevated out of the water. Every river has its thousand arms through the hills with little streams as fingers tearing them down and carrying them to the river and thence to the ocean.

A current running three inches per second will tear up the clay, twelve inches per second will move gravel and thirty six inches per second will carry stones as large as hen's eggs. Wherever there is a whirl in the bed of a stream the sand is first whirled around and forms a depression into which stones and boulders are carried and these grind the holes often seen in the bed of a stream. The waterfalls were out of the position [illegible] foot of the falls [illegible] the cataracts are constantly moving up stream. The gorge of the Columbia has been worn through the Black Mountains to the depth of over a mile 1000 [illegible] being through solid hard granite. The Columbia had worn through the Cascade 2,000 [illegible] [illegible] inclination of the strata in the mountains on either side would indicate that some force had split the mountain asunder. This was the opinion of Prof [illegible] [illegible] the falls of Niagara [illegible] their present [illegible] [illegible] the great inland seas [illegible] the Willamette [illegible] Dalles river [illegible] small stream [illegible]

SYMPTOMS OF CATARRH.

Obstruction of nasal passages discharge falling into throat sometimes profuse watery acrid or thick and tenacious mucous purulent bloody, putrid or offensive etc. In others a dryness weak or inflamed eyes ringing in ears deafness ulcerations scabs from ulcers voice altered nasal twang offensive breath impaired smell and taste etc. Few only of above symptoms likely to be present in any case at one time.

To cure—take Dr Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery earnestly to correct the blood and system which are always at fault also to act specifically as it does upon the diseased glands and lining membrane of the nose and its communicating chambers. The more I see of this odious disease the more positive is my belief that if we would make treatment perfectly successful in curing it we must use constitutional treatment to act through the blood, as well as a soothing and healing local application. Dr Sage's Catarrh Remedy when used warm and applied with Dr Pierce's Nasal Douche, effects cures upon common sense rational and scientific principles by its mild soothing and healing properties to which the disease gradually yields when the system has been put in perfect order by the use of the Golden Medical Discovery. This is the only perfectly safe, scientific and successful mode of treating upon and healing it.

So successful has the above course of treatment proven that the proprietor offers $500 reward for a case he cannot cure. All the means sold by Druggists. R. V. Pierce M. D. Proprietor Buffalo N. Y.

We received a very pleasant letter of thanks from our old friend Kendall since his return home, for a bottle of Johnson's Anodyne Liniment which we gave him and which he says has entirely cured him of the troublesome and dangerous cough he had when here.

On the death of one of England's most eminent physicians all his effects were sold by auction and among other things was a sealed packet, marked "Advice to Physicians" which brought a great price. The purchaser on opening, the packet read as follows: "Keep the head cool the bowels open and the feet warm." If physic is necessary use Parsons' Purgative Pills—they are the most scientifically prepared pill that has appeared in the last hundred years.

OREGON CITY ITEMS

Under date of the 20th our regular correspondent sends the following:

Drawing is taught now in the City Seminary by Rev. J. A. Worth an accomplished and skillful instructor. The second school quarter closes on next Friday, the third quarter will open the following Monday.

On Sabbath evening a meeting was held at the Congregational Church in the interests of the Bible Society of Clackamas county. Addresses were made by Rev. Dr Atkinson Rev Worth, Rev. Hitzel (State Agent) and Mr Foucault (County Agent). The following officers were elected to serve during the year: President J. Allen Magrum; Vice President, the pastors of the city churches; Secretary W. H. Hay; Treasurer Henry Warren; Executive Committee J. O. McOwen John Myers S. C. Campbell E. J. Spooner and John Meldrum.

The many friends of Mrs J. L. Hunsaker's family were sadly shocked on last Wednesday on learning that Mrs Hunsaker had suddenly died. She had been in usual health on Wednesday morning. A few minutes afterward she was seized with a fit of epilepsy. The best medical aid failed to render any relief and she expired at 11 A. M. The funeral was on Friday and notwithstanding the day was most fearfully stormy the funeral was very largely attended. Dr Atkinson aided by Revs. Wirth and Judy conducted the funeral services at the Congregational Church of which Mrs Hunsaker was a member during her life. She was loved by a large circle of friends and many were those who joined their tears with those of the stricken and sorrowing family.

VANCOUVER ITEMS

A brisk run of travel up the Columbia is to be looked for soon, as the upper river is nearly cleared of ice.

Nothing short of very low water will prevent an unusually large movement of freight and travel the coming season.

The late storm felled a large number of trees on the roads in the vicinity of Vancouver which renders traveling with a wagon difficult at present.

Since the President issued his proclamation of amnesty to deserters in November last about 60 have come into camp at Vancouver and commenced duty where they left off to serve the balance of the enlisted time.

WEDNESDAY MORNING JAN 21, 1874

THIRTY FIVE

As one who climbs a mountain steep
And pauses on the way
With backward glance his path to sweep—
So would I pause to day
Half way

Half way and looking down the road
The stones that hurt my feet
The wayside thorn the tiresome load
Make his short rest seem sweet
Half way

Half way a haze obscures my sight
My eyes grow dim with tears
As looking downward from this height
I count my buried years—
Half way

Ah me how bright and happy some
Their graves are strewn with flowers
But others shroud me in their gloom
And bring back heavy hours
Half way

How many a treasure from my grasp
Has dropped along the way
Father! Thy strong and steady clasp
I seek anew to-day—
Half way

Half way along I look above
But nothing can I see!
My Father's guidance and his love
Are all in all to me—
Half way!

Half way and I may never count
My three score years and ten
But looking down on life's rough mount
Think that this might have been
Half way

Aye looking down! If e'er my feet
May tread the Mount of God
I fain would stoop for rest so sweet
And drop life's weary load
Half way!

A HORRIBLE DEATH.

A MAN HELD FAST BY A SEA MONSTER UNTIL THE TIDE RISES AND COVERS HIM

[From the San Diego World January 1st.]

We were yesterday put into possession of the details of the death of a Chinaman on the Coronades, day before yesterday, that eclipse in horror the death scene described by Victor Hugo in his "Toilers of the Sea," in which a devil fish is introduced with graphic power

Our readers know that the abalone meat is a prized delicacy of the Chinaman and that the shell of the abalone, when properly polished, is one of the most fanciful and beautiful things in nature The abalones are generally sought lower down the coast but are also found in the neighborhood of San Diego

Day before yesterday Fung Chow, a professional fisherman residing near Roseville, known among Americans by the nick name of Chowder started out to the Coronades in his boat to hunt for abalones Of course, his movements can only be surmised by the event The supposition is that he moored his boat and began his quest The Coronades are quite abrupt in their formation—precipitous, but occasionally broken. "Chowder" saw an enormous abalone in a cleft of the rock, in a place covered with water when the tide was in, and throwing himself on his stomach, he dropped over the ledge to wrench the delicacy from its fastness

Abalones are univalvular, and if, in detaching one from the rock to which it can fix itself almost immovable one happens to not wrench it loose at once it often closes its single shell on the rock, prisoning the spoiling hand and causing inexpressible agony This was poor "Chowder's" fate As his evil star would have it, the abalone was unusually large, and the poor Chinaman, unable to release himself, must have early realized that he was doomed From his position, leaning over the rock he could not brace himself, or obtain any leverage by which, at the sacrifice of the hand, if need be, he could tear himself free

We can imagine the agony suffered by the poor wretch as he waited long hours for the rising of the tide which would end his misery by death The actual pain endured must have been unspeakable, and no help was nearer than eighteen miles We can conceive of nothing so horrible as such a situation, except the ancient Persian punishment of the "Boat," described minutely in Plutarch, in which the victim was thrown to the ground, a boat was turned upside down over him, and staked, and his face was smeared with honey to attract the insects There he was left to die. The poor Chinaman's plight was almost as bad as this but happily the returning tide prevented the agony from being as lasting The inexorable waters, however, shortly did their work. There came a time when the poor Chinaman could strain no longer, and when the briny flood sucked from his lungs the breath of life.

When, yesterday, Chowder's body was recovered by a brother Celestial, his dead hand was still clutched in the remorseless grasp of the abalone which had so terribly avenged the invasion of his rocky home The agony the poor fellow had endured in his novel martyrdom was imprinted on his face

A SEA TRAGEDY

LOSS OF A VESSEL, AND SEVERE SUFFERING OF THE CREW.

The North German brig Calsow Stesow, a small vessel, not 300 tons, left New York for Constantinople last August, and on the 24th of that month a hurricane struck her She was taken unawares, and went over on her beam ends, where she lay for an hour and a half the crew lashed on to her port bulwarks, unable, apparently to cut away the shrouds and stays After the time named she relieved herself of everything but the lower masts, and righted but she lay so low in the water with the waves which she had taken on board that the crew had to climb to the head of the foremast in order to avoid being drowned by the "green seas." Laden with a buoyant cargo, the brig did not founder, but she wallowed to and fro in the trough of the sea, constantly washed by the billows, so that, night and day, the five hands surviving with the Captain and mate had to cling for life to that foretop Six nights and five days the poor fellows were kept in their hard plight, without a morsel to eat or a drop of water to drink, the sea perpetually sweeping over their deck, and roaring certain death at them if they attempted to come down to find a scrap of nourishment

On the sixth evening, like a tiger that has howled itself to exhaustion at the foot of a tree, the fierce billows quieted, and the weak, cramped wretches six days starved—crept down and "rumaged" for food They found a case of preserved meat, some wine, lime-juice and beer, and it "helped them to live." In spite of this, and a little more which they afterward extracted from the soaked cabins, they had still a dreadful time to pass There was no shelter, and nothing to be had to support life but an odd tin or two of provisions, and first the boy died, then the boatswain, and afterward a sailor For six days they had tasted nothing, and during the ten days more the survivors had lived on the scantiest scraps, when a Spanish vessel the Amable Asuncion, came in sight.

She boarded the water logged mastless brig and found upon her deck four living men, too weak to heave the dead ones into the sea—gaunt, speechless, famished creatures—too far gone to wave even a flag or handkerchief though they saw the Spaniard and his signal The Dons were kind and clever, and fed the poor creatures so carefully on board their bark that the fluttering spark of life burned up again, and Captain, mate carpenter and a seaman were saved and brought in fair condition to Vigo But what bitterness is there in death which those poor souls had not tasted, aloft six days, night and day, in gnawing hunger, above the howling tiger-like sea, and after the storm starving more or less on the shelterless deck for another ten days, with the dead, who must have seemed so much more fortunate lying among them There is nothing novel in either narrative it has all happened over and over again and may be happening now upon some one of the many paths which man follows upon the ocean but it gives pathetic meaning to the weekly litany which is put up for those who "travel by water" by those who dwell upon the safe and firm shore

WAIL OF A TAX RIDDEN PEOPLE.—A Charleston (S C) dispatch of January 13th says At a meeting of property holders at Columbia yesterday it was resolved to ask the Taxpayers Convention which is to meet on the 17th of February in view of the ruinous taxes imposed by the State Legislature to petition Congress to remand the State to a Territorial condition or to replace it under military government

A POLICEMAN KILLS HIS WIFE.—A New York dispatch of January 13th says Reuben Murdoch a special policeman, shot his wife dead to night She had been out to a neighbor's, and on returning at 10 o'clock entered the back door when her husband thinking it was a burglar, fired He was arrested

Exchange on San Francisco at par

Wheat in Liverpool by mail advices from San Francisco—Average California [illegible]

During the last four months of 1873 the cry of hard times came from nearly all parts of the country indicating a great scarcity of money and general stagnation in trade Since the meeting of Congress that body has been engaged in discussing various questions of financial relief [illegible] and all classes of the community are casting anxiously about them and speculating on the many measures proposed for the revival of trade and an increased circulation of the currency In the mean time the U S Treasury is being rapidly depleted and its income is rapidly diminishing by the falling off of imports and the general shrinkage of values

The crisis say the newspapers were produced by the panic but a more important question to be solved is what produced the panic What were the remote and proximate causes that amid seeming general prosperity and when all departments of industry and business presented the usual evidences of health and vigor, prostrated business, suspended trade and broke down confidence in our whole financial system and rendered our best securities almost worthless in the markets of the world We shall have made but little progress in the direction of financial reform until these questions are fairly and squarely met and fully answered

The indebtedness of the country is reckoned as one and generally admitted to be the main producing cause of the panic and when we look at the enormity of the cause we rather wonder that the effect is not greater Our population is say in round numbers 40 000 000 Our interest-bearing public debts of all classes—national State and municipal—perhaps is $8 000 000 000, or a sum equal to $200 for every living soul in the nation

The private interest bearing indebtedness of the country may be quite safely estimated at $2 000 000 000 more, thus making an interest bearing indebtedness of $10,000 000 000 to be carried by 40 000 000 of people beside the burdens of National State and local government

The account may be briefly stated as follows

Interest on $10,000 000 000 at an average in currency of seven per cent per annum	$700 000 000
Expenses of the United States Government exclusive of interest on the national debt, included above	220,000,000
Expenses of the State governments	120 000 000
Local taxes of all kinds	200 000 000
Total	$1,240 000 000
To the foregoing add the cost of feeding clothing and caring for 40 000 000 people at an average of $150 each	6,000 000 000
The grand total is	$7,240 000,000

Which vast sum each year has to be produced to preserve the national, State and local credit and to prevent a collapse of private individual solvency In other words there has to be produced, by forty millions of people, every year a sum equal to $181 each, to prevent personal suffering and national State and local disaster

We have of gold and silver in this country perhaps $200,000 000 United States and National Bank Currency about $710,000 000, or a total sum of money equal to $910,000 000 It is now contended that $710 000 000 in currency is wholly inadequate to the wants of the country under existing circumstances and that instead of any reduction in the currency it ought to be increased by at least $250 000 000 or a sum equal to about one fortieth of the public and private indebtedness of the nation. Expansion of our currency is an admitted evil, but universal insolvency, disaster and ruin are still greater evils To Congress the nation must look but, so far, there is scarcely a ray of light in that quarter

Who Bears the Burden?

In treating of the financial dilemma into which the country at large has been brought, an Eastern exchange divides the sources of our national and individual subsistence into three great classes 1st the products of the soil 2d, the mines of the country 3d, the foreign trade, and says

Of the first it may be said, that the great staples of the country produced by tilling the soil is our chief reliance and will forever continue to be so And yet, they have been oppressed in a ten-fold greater degree than either of the other sources of wealth. Capitalists and sharpers from every country on earth have regarded the United States and their agricultural and planting staples as the surest and safest securities for a large return from railway investments and who does not know that these interests, involving the capital and toil of 30 000,000 of the population of the country, have been burdened by transportation rates almost beyond endurance for years past to meet the rapacity of investors and the extravagant salaries and criminal wastes of railway managers and transportation lines These 30 000,000 of people have been and are to-day the "hewers of wood and drawers of water" to the uncontrolled capitalists of this and almost every nation in Europe Even the products of the mines of the distant Western States and Territories cannot escape! They too in their movements, are so taxed in the matter of freight rates, that they are compelled to be sent almost entirely to San Francisco, and there contribute to the wealth of rings and banks at the expense of the hardy and adventurous miners who delve in the earth and bring them to light

Our foreign trade during the war, almost wholly disappeared from the ocean and it is to day a standing national shame Our exports are carried to foreign countries in foreign ships with the balance of trade constantly against us In the face of such plain, simple facts is it strange that we should have hard times?

The Grocery Trade.

In this line of business trade is generally quite active for the season and prices are well sustained, and in some instances a decided upward tendency The orders coming from the interior at this season are usually small, being confined to various articles to supply stocks depleted Our wholesale grocers will carry over no very large quantities of goods into the summer season, their plan having been to keep stocks only adequate to the current demands of the trade In coffee stocks are quite small, some varieties being entirely exhausted and prices are firm at the advance Salt teas and syrups are in full supply, while the stocks of sugars are not above the requirements of the season

Home Produce Market.

WHEAT—Our market for this cereal presents a very uninteresting aspect Exporters here have considerable money at command and will continue firm [illegible] and quite indifferent about making further purchases until they can see their way more clearly through the freight difficulties that now are impending Five thousand bushels were offered in the market to-day but at last reports from the holder he had found no takers In the meantime quotations are nominally at $1 [illegible] per cental

FLOUR—The receipts continue to come forward in large volume and very great supplies have accumulated Prices have not changed but sales are effected with greater favor to the buyer

OATS—A weakening tendency is noted in the market and some buyers refuse [illegible] at more for exceeding [illegible] cents per bushel while [illegible] is in other instances occasionally secured for choice

HAY—The recent storm has slightly affected prices and choice Timothy [illegible] supply the local trade is in demand at $15 per ton

BARLEY—But little doing beyond the supplying of local trade at $1 40a1 45 ₽ 100 lbs

POTATOES—The receipts are growing less and some choice varieties have brought 75 cents ₽ bushel though large lots could not be placed at that figure.

ONIONS—No shipments of importance have been made lately and our market is well supplied at $1 50a1 75 ₽ 100 lbs

APPLES—We notice the arrival of many large lots, some of which shipped to San Francisco find dull sale at barely living prices to the shipper The home demand is amply supplied with all the varieties in season at 50a60 cents ₽ box

DRIED FRUIT—No change for the better has taken place Apples still dull at 4½ cents ₽ lb in sacks and [illegible] in kegs Plums with pits 6a7 cents pitless 11 cents ₽ lb

BACON—We quote Sides at 10a11 cents ₽ lb, Shoulders 9c and Hams 15a16c These figures are for good country cured Bacon well trimmed and thoroughly smoked Such is in fair demand

LARD—The supply is adequate and prices though unchanged are hardly so firm

BUTTER—We notice continuance of full receipts and sales of large lots are made with difficulty Current rates for ordinary lots are fresh roll [illegible] solid in kegs 20a25c In brine 20a25c

EGGS—We note no change in rates The demand is fair at [illegible] ₽ doz for fresh receipts

CHICKENS—We quote full grown at $[illegible] small $[illegible]

HIDES—Choice dry quotable at 14a15c ₽ lb culls 11a12½c salted and green 6a7c

WOOL—But few lots are changing hands usually at slightly advanced rates, say 22a25c ₽ lb for best quality

MEDICAL.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES! NEW REMEDIES!

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL San Francisco Established in 1854 for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases such as Gonorrhea Gleet Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms Seminal Weakness Impotency etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated

DR. GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned from visiting the principal Hospitals of Europe and has resumed practice at his Dispensary 623 Kearney street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco where his old patients and those requiring his services may find him

The Doctor has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies and has returned with increased facilities for the alleviation of human suffering

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons both male and female are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene Let parents guardians friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible life destroying maladies—see that they are cured for and cured before it be too late Send them immediately to DR. GIBBON, a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate case, without mercury or any injurious drugs It is important to those who are afflicted or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities publishing their skill in curing [illegible] in a few days imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions the consequence of self abuse, This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent producing with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms unless combatted by scientific medical measures viz. Sallow countenance dark spots under the eyes pain in the head ringing in the ears noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence diffidence in approaching strangers a dislike to form new acquaintances, disposition to shun society loss of memory hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face furred tongue fetid breath, coughs consumption nightsweats monomania and frequent insanity If relief be not obtained should apply immediately either in person or by letter and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr G will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

Married Men,

Or those who contemplate marriage who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them, nor delay to obtain immediate relief

DR. GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

Cured at Home.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr Gibbon stating case, symptoms length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions By enclosing Ten Dollars coin in registered letter through the Postoffice or through Wells Fargo & Co a package of medicine will be forwarded to any part of the Union All communications strictly confidential.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who, with bogus sworn certificates dupe the unwary Some of the self styled doctors whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places are tradesmen and became too lazy to work at their trades Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers newspaper carriers intelligence office keepers etc The only way to avoid imposition is to make inquiry—it will cost you nothing and may save you many regrets, for as advertising physicians in eight cases out of ten are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates pretended patients letters etc. Dr Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure.

Address DR. J. F GIBBON 623 Kearney street corner Commercial, San Francisco Postoffice Box 1 957. REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 1,957 ON THE LETTER Consultations FREE.

☞ Correspondents will please inform DR GIBBON that they read his advertisement in the DAILY OREGONIAN jy6d1p
